The Met is an innovative public career and technical school, which offers integrated academic and work skills programming. With high standards and strong family engagement, The Met's individualized learning approach has proven successful in unlocking students' passion for learning.

However, The Met faces many challenges and needs your support. As a state-operated career and technical school, The Met relies on sufficient funding from the state to support the unique needs of the innovative programs and its students, including my children Anna and Cassy

Here's why the Met is so important to me: The Met's primary goal is unique. The Met's goal is to help students take ownership of their high school education. It becomes a journey of self-discovery. The opportunity to integrate math, language arts, social studies, science with hands on learning in areas of their own interests breeds motivate fulfillment, purpose and confidence. Students develop supportive relations with their mentors who help them build excellent skills. They learn workplace commitment and professionalism. By 11th grade they are excelling

I invite you to visit The Met to see the great work being done to prepare students for post-secondary schooling and careers. We appreciate your open perspective on this matter as you review the funding formula. We are depending on your help to ensure innovate career and technical education for the students of Rhode Island. over=>

Date 11/18/15Dear Governor Raimondo and the Education Funding Formula Working Group,

My name is Jacqueline Ramos. Thank you for all that you do for Rhode Island. I am writing to ask for your support of The Metropolitan Regional Career and Technical Center (The Met). The Met is important to my family and to the community, and I am concerned about the financial challenges they are facing. My child Dominic Alves, is a 11 grader at The Met.

The Met is an innovative public career and technical school, which offers integrated academic and work skills programming. With high standards and strong family engagement, The Met's individualized learning approach has proven successful in unlocking students' passion for learning.

However, The Met faces many challenges and needs your support. As a state-operated career and technical school, The Met relies on sufficient funding from the state to support the unique needs of the innovative programs and its students, including my child Dominic Alves.

Here's why the Met is so important to me: My son had struggled with public school. He gets distracted, and did not do well in a closed class room. At The Met he has shown so much improvement, and he can be more independent.

I invite you to visit The Met to see the great work being done to prepare students for post-secondary schooling and careers. We appreciate your open perspective on this matter as you review the funding formula. We are depending on your help to ensure innovate career and technical education for the students of Rhode Island.

Dear Governor Raimondo and the Education Funding Formula Working Group,

My name is Lisa Paulino. Thank you for all that you do for Rhode Island. I am writing to ask for your support of The Metropolitan Regional Career and Technical Center (The Met). The Met is important to my family and to the community, and I am concerned about the financial challenges they are facing. My child Mia Paulino, is a 9 grader at The Met.

The Met is an innovative public career and technical school, which offers integrated academic and work skills programming. With high standards and strong family engagement, The Met's individualized learning approach has proven successful in unlocking students' passion for learning.

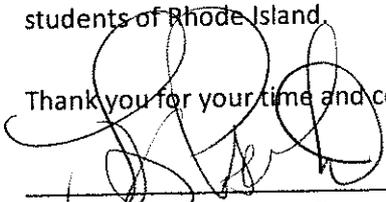

However, The Met faces many challenges and needs your support. As a state-operated career and technical school, The Met relies on sufficient funding from the state to support the unique needs of the innovative programs and its students, including my child Mia Paulino.

Here's why the Met is so important to me:

I have how it is "one student at a time" Everything is geared toward the individual child. Such great opportunities and innovative ways to teach children, as no one learns the same

I invite you to visit The Met to see the great work being done to prepare students for post-secondary schooling and careers. We appreciate your open perspective on this matter as you review the funding formula. Dear Governor Raimondo and the Education Funding Formula Working Group,

My name is Michelle Greenwood. Thank you for all that you do for Rhode Island. I am writing to ask for your support of The Metropolitan Regional Career and Technical Center (The Met). The Met is important to my family and to the community, and I am concerned about the financial challenges they are facing. My child Annette Rosic Greenwood is a 12 grader at The Met.

The Met is an innovative public career and technical school, which offers integrated academic and work skills programming. With high standards and strong family engagement, The Met's individualized learning approach has proven successful in unlocking students' passion for learning.

However, The Met faces many challenges and needs your support. As a state-operated career and technical school, The Met relies on sufficient funding from the state to support the unique needs of the innovative programs and its students, including my child Annette Rosic Greenwood

Here's why the Met is so important to me: The MET is unique in its approach to teaching and preparing a student to thrive in the real adult world, just as my child, Annette Rosic Greenwood is unique. I have witnessed an amazing transformation from a shy, timid teenager to a self-confident, intelligent, motivated, goal-oriented young lady with a can-do attitude.

I invite you to visit The Met to see the great work being done to prepare students for post-secondary schooling and careers. We appreciate your open perspective on this matter as you review the funding formula. Dear Governor Raimondo and the Education Funding Formula Working Group,

My name is Keith Greenwood. Thank you for all that you do for Rhode Island. I am writing to ask for your support of The Metropolitan Regional Career and Technical Center (The Met). The Met is important to my family and to the community, and I am concerned about the financial challenges they are facing. My child Rosie Greenwood, is a 12 grader at The Met.

The Met is an innovative public career and technical school, which offers integrated academic and work skills programming. With high standards and strong family engagement, The Met's individualized learning approach has proven successful in unlocking students' passion for learning.

However, The Met faces many challenges and needs your support. As a state-operated career and technical school, The Met relies on sufficient funding from the state to support the unique needs of the innovative programs and its students, including my child Rosie.

Here's why the Met is so important to me: The Met has helped Rosie grow and mature into an Amazing person. She's learned to open up achieve goals. When she was in public school she slipped through the cracks and her talents un-nurtured. The level of focus on the development of the student far exceeds any other Educational formula.

I invite you to visit The Met to see the great work being done to prepare students for post-secondary schooling and careers. We appreciate your open perspective on this matter as you review the funding formula. We are depending on your help to ensure innovate career and technical education for the students of Rhode Island.
