

Intensive Intervention

Questions parents and families can ask when talking to their child's school about intensive intervention

Monitoring Progress

- How will the team be monitoring my child's progress?
- How will I be informed about my child's progress?
- How frequently will I receive updates?
- What happens when my child is not making enough progress?

Sharing Information

- What information should I share about my child?
- How can I best share information?
- Will I be invited to participate in data meetings?
- Are there other ways to be involved if I can't be there in person?

Understanding the Intervention Plan

- What is my child's intervention plan?
- Who is responsible for implementing the plan?
- How long does each intervention take?
- How can I support my child's plan at home?

Are you a parent of a child with a disability or do you suspect a disability and need more support?

Visit <http://www.parentcenterhub.org> to find resources and to locate the Parent Training and Information Center (PTI) and Community Parent Resource Center (CPRC) in your state or community. Learn more about intensive intervention by visiting www.intensiveintervention.org.

This document was produced under the U.S. Department of Education, Office of Special Education Programs, Award No. H326Q160001. Celia Rosenquist serves as the project officer. The views expressed herein do not necessarily represent the positions or policies of the U.S. Department of Education. No official endorsement by the U.S. Department of Education of any product, commodity, service, or enterprise mentioned in this website is intended or should be inferred.

Thank you to everyone who provided assistance and feedback for this document, including:

- Helene Fallon, project director, Long Island Parent Center, Center for Community Inclusion, Long Island University
- Michelle Murphey, associate director, Utah Parent Center
- Attendees at the 2016 Region 1 Parent Center Conference LEARNING, SHARING, GROWING TOGETHER

National Center on
INTENSIVE INTERVENTION
at American Institutes for Research ■

