COMMON CORE STATE STANDARDS

W.11-12.3 - Write narratives to develop real experiences or events using effective technique, well-chosen details, and well-structured event sequences.

W.11-12.3a - Engage and orient the reader by setting out a problem, situation, or observation and its significance; establishing one or multiple point(s) of view; create a smooth progression of experiences or events.

W.11-12.3c - Use a variety of techniques to sequence events so that they build on one another to create a coherent whole and build toward a particular tone and outcome (e.g., a sense of mystery, suspense, growth, or resolution).

W.11-12.3d - Use precise words and phrases, telling details, and sensory language to convey a vivid picture of the experiences, events, and/or setting.

Demonstrate limited understanding.

Recognize and use figurative language, word relationships, and nuances in word meanings.

Demonstrate understanding of figurative language, word relationships, and nuances in word meanings.

Demonstrate advanced use of figurative language, word relationships, and nuances in word meanings.

Modifications were made to the Scoring Criteria based on analysis of student work samples. Educators determined that the Scoring Criteria as written did not clearly delineate between performance levels (i.e., "use" versus "apply").

Performance Indicator #3C:
Writing: Write narratives to develop real experiences or events.

Beginning
Use narrative techniques, such as description or reflection.

Developing
Use narrative techniques, such as dialogue, pacing, description, and reflection to create a narrative with a clear conflict or problem.

Proficient
Use narrative techniques, such as dialogue, pacing, description, reflection, and non-linear plot lines, to create a narrative with a clear conflict or problem.

Expanding
Use narrative techniques, such as dialogue, pacing, description, imagery, reflection, and non-linear plot lines, to create a complex narrative with a clear conflict or problem.

Performance Indicator #4D:
Language: Demonstrate understanding of figurative language, word relationships, and nuances in word meanings.

Beginning
Recognize figurative language, word relationships, or nuances in word meanings. Use basic figurative language.
Developing
Use figurative language, word relationships, and nuances in word meanings.

Proficient
Use figurative language, word relationships, and nuances in word meanings to enhance the narrative (i.e., develop mood, or clarify theme/lesson).

Expanding
Use of complex figurative language, word relationships, and nuances in word meanings to enhance the narrative (i.e., develop mood, or clarify theme/lesson).

CONNECTIONS TO INSTRUCTIONAL UNIT

UNIT SUMMARY
May include big ideas, anchoring phenomenon, enduring understandings, essential questions.

Students will spend several class periods reading and critiquing sample narratives written in response to the Common Application prompts. Students will work collaboratively and independently during the instructional unit to identify strengths and weaknesses in the sample narratives. As they prepare to write their own narratives, students will brainstorm possible response topics, as well as make use of an appropriate graphic organizer for prewriting. Students will participate in mini-lessons on components of narrative writing such as the hook, use of dialogue, and tone. Students will then draft, peer respond, conference with the teacher, and revise their writing during writing workshop periods to create a narrative that relates an important story and demonstrates proficiency.

Essential Question:
How can you use writing to tell a personal story using details so that an audience can understand and get a sense of your experience and character?

How will teachers know what students know and can do prior to the task? Which relevant concepts and skills have students struggled with, had misconceptions about or missed entirely?

1. Students will read, critique, and jigsaw sample narratives written in response to the published Common Application prompts. Written responses will be given formative feedback.
2. Students will dissect the prompts to brainstorm possible topics to personalize their narratives. Written responses will be given formative feedback.
3. Students will participate in mini-lessons on components of narrative writing such as:
   - Add examples
   - Narrative techniques
   - Rhetorical situation
   - Organization
   - Figurative language
   - Avoiding cliches
4. Students will work collaboratively and independently using Google Docs to generate and respond to feedback.

What background knowledge do students need (cultural, language, etc)? Have both content goals and language demands for ELL students been considered? Have the needs of diverse learners been considered?

- Important discussion for teen audiences
- How to avoid crossing the line with your audience
- Common Agreements for peer response.
- ELLs will benefit from work in collaborative groups, reviewing work samples, and progressing through the writing process with feedback.
- Students may solicit feedback in their writing from both advisors and school counselors.
CULMINATING TASK

TASK SUMMARY

Students will:
Create a narrative essay that develops real experiences or events.

STUDENT ACTIVITY

Write a narrative essay that establishes a context, demonstrates critical thinking, creates an organizing structure, demonstrates command of the written language, and provides a thoughtful conclusion. You will choose one of the attached prompts taken from the Common Application. See rubric for specific assessment criteria.

Directions and Materials
1. Reading and critiquing sample narratives written in response to the Common Application prompts, you will work collaboratively and independently during the instructional unit to identify strengths and weaknesses in the sample narratives.
2. As you prepare to write your own narratives, you will brainstorm possible response topics, as well as make use of an appropriate graphic organizer for prewriting.
3. You will also participate in mini-lessons on components of narrative writing such as the hook, use of dialogue, and tone.
4. You will then draft, peer respond, conference with your teacher, and revise your writing during writing workshop time to create a narrative that relates an important story and demonstrates proficiency.

CONSIDERATIONS FOR DIFFERENTIATION AND ACCESSIBILITY

- Students choose the topic and focus of their narratives.
- Graphic organizers will be utilized.
- Students can utilize the narrative as part of their college application process and/or as part of their PBGR portfolio.

ADMINISTRATION NOTES AND DIRECTIONS

- Plan to spend several class periods working with students as they read and critique sample narratives written in response to the Common Application prompts.
● Ensure that students work collaboratively and independently during the instructional unit to identify strengths and weaknesses in the sample narratives.
● As they prepare to write their own narratives, have students brainstorm possible response topics, as well as make use of an appropriate graphic organizer for prewriting.
● Students should participate in mini-lessons on components of narrative writing such as the hook, use of dialogue, and tone. Students will then draft, peer respond, conference with the teacher, and revise their writing during writing workshop periods to create a narrative that relates an important story and demonstrates proficiency.

Educators noted that as they move forward with this work the following:
● Would like to develop support “mini-lessons” and formative assessments that build up to this summative narrative assessment.
● Continued support and guidance to scale proficiency work (processes/methods) within departments/schools.
