

ED PREP DESIGN FELLOWS

Do you have prior leadership experience in RI and are wondering what's next? Have you been thinking about educator preparation programs in RI and want to join the conversation? Apply to be an Ed Prep Design Fellow!

The Rhode Island Department of Education and the Rhode Island Office of Innovation are partnering to recruit distinguished educators who are interested in innovation in educator preparation. This new, highly-competitive fellowship provides PK-12 educators a unique opportunity to contribute to the design of a new or redesigned ed prep program.

THE IDEAL CANDIDATE IS...

- Excited by the opportunity to work with fellow educators and with RI preparation programs
- Interested in learning more about educator preparation in RI
- A leader in his or her school, district, or organization
- Looking for new professional growth opportunities
- Dedicated to improving education in RI
- Forward-thinking and creative
- Solutions-focused

ABOUT THE FELLOWSHIP

Monthly Fellow Meetings
January - June 2018

Engage with other educators to learn more about key design aspects of educator preparation during a topical learning series. Each session meets from 4-7 pm.

Topics will include digging deeper into RI ed prep data, diversifying the teacher pipeline, best practices in clinical preparation, and understanding candidate assessment.

- January 9
- February 13
- March 7
- April 10
- May 15
- June 12

Ed Prep Design Challenge
June - September 2018

Collaborate and think creatively with educator preparation providers to design an innovative approach to educator preparation.

Pitch your new or re-designed program to a committee and earn up to $15,000 to support further design and implementation of your team's idea.

More details to follow soon!

All fellows will receive $1,500 stipends.
